

SPIN A YARN

Spin a Yarn, the improv of the literary world, brings a unique perspective on story-writing. In an event where you'll be challenged to write and narrate the end to a piece you didn't start, the plot twists, character changes, and thematic drama will be intense! Can you work in the hazy fog of literary magic? Can you write your way to victory? Test your skills with Spin a Yarn!

Team size: Individual participation

Mode: Offline

Prizes worth

Rules:

- This is an informal event that is based on wit and quick-thinking skills.
- The exact format of the event will depend on the judge's discretion and the number of participants.
- Each participant would be given a theme and asked to write a story on the given theme for 15 minutes.
- After the end of this time, the sheets would be collected, shuffled, and redistributed so that each participant would get a sheet with a differently themed story written on it.

- Participants now get 10 minutes to read the new story they got after redistribution and come up with the second half of the new story with the theme that they originally had.
- After the 10 minutes of the second round, the participants would be required to narrate the first half of the story given to them and continue the story with their own theme to give a conclusion to the original story. The time limit for this round would be 8 minutes.
- The participants will present their stories in staggered slots.
- The decisions made by the judges are final. Requests to reconsider the final decision will not be entertained.

Judging Criteria:

Judging criteria for the first round:

- Creativity
- Plot depth
- Generality

Judging criteria for the narration round:

- Improvised plot
- Smooth transition
- Narration fluency and storytelling ability

Event Coordinator:

Siddharth Shainesh (9995020773)